CHAKANA

WELCOMING
THE FUTURE
of wine

WELCOMING THE FUTURE OF WINE

The world of wine is rapidly changing. More and more producers around the world are abandoning a model based on awards and marketing, offering affordable quality, honesty and novelty rooted in a real connection to the land - and that's what today's wine lovers demand: true, profound wines that recover the essence of the Great Tradition of Wine

NEXT
winemaking

NEXT GENERATION WINEMAKING

At Chakana we believe this demand can only be satisfied through un-conventional approaches:

- A full commitment to the simplest practices
- A deep observation of nature's workings, both in the farm and in the winery.
- The careful dedication to our own vineyards

BIODYNAMIC

AND

Natural

BIODYNAMIC AND NATURAL...

Biodynamic farming is a form of regenerative agriculture that views the entire farm as a self-sustaining living organism, which through organic practices return vitality to the soil and improve the well being of plants, animals and humans living on it, who can deliver the highest quality products.

BIODYNAMIC AND NATURAL...

Higher quality fruit demands minimum intervention in the winery to create truly enjoyable wines that challenge the established criteria of manipulation: spontaneous fermentation, natural acidity, minimum or no sulphur, locally adapted varieties, no clarification nor filtration preserve the identity of wines

From MENYOZA

From MENDOZA

Argentina is going through a wine renaissance. A five-century old viticulture with long Italian and Spanish legacy is finally recognizing its modern potential through the expression of its flagship variety, Malbec in extraordinary traditional and new terroirs in Mendoza including Agrelo, Paraje Altamira and Gualtallary.

UNDER THE SOUTHERN STAR

UNDER THE SOUTHERN STAR

The Chakana is a symbol representing the southern cross constellation. It has been revered by aboriginal people for thousands of years. It encloses in its geometry the ancient Andean world view.
