

Vilerma Ribeiro Blanco

Spain - Galicia - Ribeiro

About the Winery

Founded in 1977, Vilerma is owned by Arsenio Paz. Arsenio converted the local production from kiwi to grapes back in the 1970's, when the demand for Galician white wine grew.

The Ribeiro Denomination of Origin is in Southern Galicia, on the northwest edge of the province of Ourense. It has 2,685 hectares of vineyards. The vineyards cover areas of varying altitudes, from 75 to 400 meters above sea level, in valleys and sometimes very steep hillsides on terraces known as "socalcos" or "bocarribeiras" that follow the contours of the hills.

About the Wine

Ribeiro Blanco is produced from estate-grown grapes using traditional winemaking. The wine exhibits an exotic lime/yellow color, mineral flavor, and citrus finish. Acclaimed as one of the best white wines in Spain. An insiders wine.

Pale yellow color with green highlights. Intense white fruit and stone-fruit aromas, floral notes with hints of honey, it is ample in the mouth, full and pleasant with a long and unctuous finish.
