Fragrances of Sherry, flowers, vanilla, dried fruits.

Mellow, and long in the mouth.

A fabulous balance between sherry's warmth and the fresh flavours only barley can produce.

To be preferably consumed after diner at room temperature (17 to 18°C).

Fabulous demonstration of a whisky matured in a very impregnated sweet

PX Sherry cask. Could be the best companion for winter peaceful evenings.

TASTING COMMENTS

This label does not indicate time spent in wood because the whisky's maturity is reached differently in every cask.

Age is only one of the complex factors on which maturation depends.

Blossoming Auld Sherried is the perfect demonstration of sherry impregnated wood's greatest significance.
