

Domus Aurea

Chile - Central Valley Region

Ricardo Peña is the owner, but the land was property of his grand father... This land has never been very good to grow classic agricultural business because of the too poor soils, so they decided to plant vines and it has been the best idea ever !

the first about the wines name was "Dominus" but of course, it was taken (as you well know) So, the concept being about showing something proper, owned by the family and unique, "Domus Aurea" has been chosen. On the other side, " quebrada de Macul" is the place were the winery is located.
