Uvaggio Wines

United States - California - Lodi

About twenty years ago we had a hard time even spelling Vermentino and today it is emerging as one of the more popular Italian white grapes. It is even catching on here in California, thanks in part to Uvaggio's efforts, because it seems to them the perfect white grape.

It possess the utility of many dry and non-barrel aged whites but perhaps with greater versatility and certainly more charm - not too thin, not too tart, not too herbal - in other words it lacks an Achilles' heel - supple and accessible, without any challenges.

The 2018 bottling showcases two decades of growing this variety in Lodi, across multiple sites spanning four different sub AVAs.
